MEMORANDUM FOR: Mr. Houston

STATINTL

SUBJECT: Proposed Copyright Clause

1. Enclosure A hereto is a Copyright clause which it is proposed to use in contracts, the principal subject matter of which is a written report which is highly sensitive from a security standpoint.

2. Enclosure B is the standard Government Copyright clause which appears in the ASPR's. This clause gives the Government only a nonexclusive license to reproduce the material in question. This is felt to be inadequate for some contracts of this Agency, especially when the report has been prepared wholly at the expense of the Government and should not be revealed to any one outside the Agency.

3. Any comments which you have would be appreciated.
